Officials Suspend 114 For Parking Offenses

University officials announced Monday in the weekly Faculty Bulletin the suspensions of 114 day evening students for parking violations following a meeting of the Parking Committee. Maintenance Head William Nowlan presided during the review of student parking violations. Committee members included Bursar Charles Rasmussen, Director of Student Activities Floyd Brewer, Director of the Evening Division James Southhouse and Student Council Representatives William Bartlett and Nicholas Panuzio.

The violator's list divided into day and evening categories, listed three classes of penalties: two-day suspensions, four-day suspensions and indefinite suspensions, with monetary punishments attached to all suspensions.

Fifty-seven day students were suspended for three days, 13 for six days and 15 for an indefinite period. In the Evening Division, 24 students received "stay away" orders for three days and one student in each of the remaining categories.

According to University regulations, all students must register cars used on campus areas. At registration, both fall and spring, each student is given a set of parking regulations and rules, with parking areas designated.

At press time, University officials, as well as faculty members, could give little or no clue as to whether or not the suspension rulings would be enforced or reduced.

According to Rasmussen, students were not to receive cuts from missed classes and would be permitted to make-up quizzes, tests and exams.

The list of violators and their penalties are listed below.

DAY DIVISION — indefinite suspension: Roberta Andress, Ernest Antignani, Howard Bader, Raymond Bell, Edward Caliendo, George Clifford, Frank D'Ostilio, David Johnson, Bernie Milove, Harry Nigro, Lawrence Novak, Winnie Osborn, Harry Peters, Theodore Pittu, Martin Schwartz, Thomas Skudlarek, Gil Strunk and Dove Uullman.

EVENING DIVISION — two-day suspension plus payment of fines: Gilbert Colwell, Evelyn Cunningham, Lawrence Curran, Norman Eichner, Charles Esposito, Theodore Farcas, Irwin Gordon, Kenneth Hawman, Joan Keeler, Paul King, James Lee, Robert Mendes, Joseph Morgida, Alfred North, Ralph Okrepke, Izlar Peskin, Edward Pickman, Matthew Salomone, Russell Severson, Doris Singer, Peter Spangenberg, Ralph Stefanek, Joseph Thompson and Richard Zaffino.

EVENING DIVISION — four-day suspension plus payment of fines: Thomas McConaghee.

EVENING DIVISION — Indefinite suspension: William Bevacqua.

The cases of Sami Baghdady, Bert Seigel, Bob Neuiberger and Bill Wright, who were also named, are pending further investigation.

Weekly Puzzles To Run in Scribe

Campus etymologists will get a chance to prove their worth against a new series of crossword puzzles that will make their initial appearance in the next issue of the Scribe. The puzzles will run regularly during the remainder of the semester and will reappear in the fall as a standard feature of the Scribe.

Senator Sees No Vet Raise

In a personal letter answering a petition independently instigated by Jack Zalkind, a University political science student, Sen. William Purtell, a member of the United States Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, stated that no foreseeable action could be seen on a bill which would increase allowances for veterans attending colleges.

Zalkind, a veteran, appealed for signers of a petition on April 5 urging the passage of Bill S. 533, which would increase allowances by 25 per cent.

At present Korean veterans are receiving allotments of $110 per month with increases according to the number of dependents. Zalkind said, "With these figures it is difficult, if not impossible, to attend school without working part time."

Purtell urged veterans to inform him of their views and reaffirmed that he will give this bill a thorough study when it comes up for consideration by the Committee.

Engineer Discusses Job Opportunities

"So You Want a Job in Industry" is the topic of a convocation sponsored by the Society for the Advancement of Management that will be held this morning at 11 a. m. in the Carlson Lecture Hall in the Technology Building.

The guest speaker will be Reinhold Seperack, an industrial engineer for the Corning Glass Works of Corning, N. Y.

Seperack, a former Bridgeporter, will discuss the size, type and location of industries best suited to the individuals' abilities, goals and expectations, and sources available to the graduate to aid him in job selection.

Dr. William S. Dix, librarian of Princeton University, will inaugurate the annual dinner meeting of the New England College Librarians tonight at 7 p. m. in the Stratfield Hotel. Dix will speak on "The Fundamental Purpose of the College Library".

The meeting, for which the University plays host, will begin the two-day dedication ceremonies of the Carlson Library. The annual session will be concluded tomorrow with a luncheon in the Stratfield Hotel at 12 noon and convocation exercises at 2:30 p. m. in the Klein. An address delivered by Dr. Arthur S. Adams, president of the American Council on Education will highlight the afternoon convocation. Dedication ceremonies will begin at 4 p. m.

KEYNOTERS

WILLIAM SHEPARD DIX

ARTHUR STANTON ADAMS

No classes will be held after 1:50 p. m. on Friday, but all students are required to attend the Convocation at the Klein Auditorium at 2:30 p. m. and credit will be given for this convocation and absences will receive regular class cuts.

Parking will be prohibited in the Engineering-Technology Building Parking Lot on Thursday and Friday, April 26 and 27. Park Place between Park Ave. and Myrtle Ave. will be roped off Friday for the afternoon exercises.

Members of the Student Council and other student leaders will serve as guides and provide information for visitors and guests, April 26 and 27. Alumni Hall and Library will be closed from 2 to 5 p. m. on Friday, April 27.

Many rooms on the second floor of the Tech Building will be used for meeting rooms for the visiting librarians. Mr. Southhouse will give instructions for transferring classes to other rooms.

Car Pools should be organized by faculty and students in order to alleviate the parking problem in the vicinity of the Klein.

Dollar Weekend Buys Fun and Frolic

The Third Annual Weekend On A Dollar will be held on campus tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. The cost to all students will $1 with a ticket or a total of $2 for all events without a ticket. No tickets will be sold for the carnival at the gate.

The weekend will begin with a sophomore class carnival, to be held from 7 to 11 p. m. Heading the committee for the carnival is Sugar Aronson, president of the sophomore class. Publicity has been handled by Elaine Melnik, Harriet Grossman and Mona Schwartz.

Among the special attractions at the carnival, will be events such as: pie throwing, fortune-telling and penny pitching. A novel idea, and a chance to release your frustrations, will be displayed in the smash an automobile game.

The carnival, a new plan for diversified programs, offers souvenirs, prizes and fun for all. Ticket booths will be set up to avoid long lines and waiting. The purpose of the carnival is to raise money for a mascot for the University.

A regular midway will be set up in the driveway which leads to Alumni Hall. In case of rain the carnival will be held inside Alumni. Dancing has also been planned by the committee.

There will also be the finals of the ping pong tournament, which is being organized by Terry Sechrist. The price of admission for these events will be 25c without a ticket.

On Saturday night at 8:30 the Woodbridge Club Players will present "The Philadelphia Story" at the Little Theater. The Woodbridge Club Players are an amateur group under the direction of the Yale Drama Association. Admission for those who do not hold tickets is $1.25.

Sunday's events, which take place in Alumni Hall, will begin at 2 p. m. with the Wistaria Queen Beauty Contest. After an informal talk with the judges, the contestants will appear downstairs. A ramp will be set up and all contestants will parade first in suits and then in formal wear. The seven finalists will be chosen and the names will be announced immediately.

The annual fraternity-sorority talent show will be held at 5 p. m.

JUSTICE OR JUST?

The mass suspension of more than 100 day and evening students caught the campus by surprise Monday, to say the least. The Scribe would like to go on record as approving a set of rigidly enforced student parking laws, but at the same time, questions the handling of the situation.

Out of the proverbial "clear, blue sky" scores of educational seeking young men and women were suspended for periods ranging from three to six school days.

In the past, we admit, students have been removed from class for violating campus parking rules, but only to an extremely limited degree. Then, all at once, a Paul Bunyon type of list is distributed, to faculty members only, in the Faculty Bulletin.

One can only surmise that violations were piled up, for the purpose of creating a stir on campus. And that's exactly what has happened.

Parking Committee member, Charles Rasmussen, said that processing auto registration numbers required weeks because they were sent to the Motor Vehicle Department in Hartford.

Could the reasoning behind the "storing up" of violations and punishments be the old axiom, "Give them enough rope and they'll hang themselves."

Also, for some strange reason, Scribe's News Editor was refused admittance to the "court". Was it to screen inconsistencies in punishments meted out to defendants and enforcement weaknesses?

Giving six-day "vacations" for parking infractions can only mean this: The administration knows of no other way to deal with students in their efforts to reconcile the parking situation.

Does anyone think that suspended students are going to leave the campus with a good feeling? Students come to college for education not to be suspended from classes because they parked their cars on the wrong side of a line.

Why not charge student-drivers an additional 25c or 50c for registering cars? With money derived from this source, a suitable parking area could be erected in a few years. Better still why not make a survey of parking in the campus area and start planning for the congestion which is sure to come with increased enrollment. But any plan evolved should bring the students and the administration closer together, not drive a sharp wedge between them!

Kleist Visits Time Magazine

Senior Robert G. Kleist, Chancellor of SOS fraternity, was one of 57 advertising honor students who visited the offices of Time magazine as part of the sixth annual Inside Advertising Week program sponsored by the Association of Advertising Men and Women. Here, Kleist (third from left) talks with Time Circulation Director Bernard Auer (far right) along with other visiting students.

Students Receive Special Parking Vacations

Early this week, more than one campusite was fractured by the news that his name appeared in the "go-home-for-six-days" list featured in the Faculty Bulletin for delinquent parking violators. This was a strict movement by the Parking Committee to guarantee prompt payment of on-campus tickets.

If you were around last year you can recall similar action that was taken by the Parking Committee on this problem. However, that committee handled it in a much less controversial manner. And they reached the same results! ! !

This was the way they did it last year. The Scribe was asked and did publish a list of those students who owed parking fines. The student members of the Parking Committee personally reached most of the violators and urged them to pay or be suspended if they didn't. Most of the money was collected and only a few cases required administrative action.

If you can't see what was wrong this time, let this stir your paths of thought. How were the students informed that they were being penalized? By a page in the Faculty Bulletin, which is none of the student's business. Who finally determined the fines and suspensions when the student violator asked for a review of his case? What effect did the Council representative have on the thinking of his administrative superiors, when he tried to present the student violators' side of the problem?

You might also say that the old way evidently didn't work, but does the capital punishment eliminate murder and kidnapping? Of course, it doesn't.

You should also consider the veteran attending school under the G. I. Bill. He is put under the threat of losing all his educational benefits through the government, because he has failed to heed tickets in an aggregate value of $6.00. I fail to see any correlation in a lengthy suspension from school and two or three parking stubs. Can you?

One of the acquitted defendants of parking violators, at least had time to rejoice last Friday night. He was Bert Seigel, treasurer of the Student Council. He pinned Myrna Freid, of Park Hall, with his SLX pin at a private cocktail party before the SOS dance.

Mel Steig, corporal, stationed at Ft. Monmouth, was named "Soldier of the Month" at that base last week. Mel has been going steadily with Barbara Bloom of Schott Hall. The soldier's celebrity is a grad of Philadelphia Technical Institute and a local Bridgeporter.

Six apprentice scholarships will be offered this summer at the Groton Playhouse, in Groton, Conn. These grants were announced by Knight-in-Chief Al Dickason and "Thunder" General Manager, Jack Zalkind. The apprentices will be accepted on a non-paying basis and will work with the Equity Company and play minor roles with Broadway stars. The Groton Playhouse will

Bridgeport Post Lauds Carlsons in Editorial

"There is nothing more important in the development of a college or university than its library, which has been referred to by scholars ancient and modern, as the heart of education. And as such it becomes the heart of the university and its work of developing student's minds.

"Truly the heart of the university, the opening of this library means not only new life for the university but the community also because its facilities will always be available for students and researchers. A bronze plaque of the Carlson Brothers (see Section B) whose philanthropy provided this added university facility, will hang permanently in the lobby, a tribute to their efforts to advance the cultural life of their home community.

"Bridgeport, and the university, are indeed fortunate to have such public spirited men in this community, who gave of their substance to advance the quality of education."

Edifice Combines Beauty, Utility

Many features have been incorporated into the 100,000 volume Carlson Library building of the University of Bridgeport to be dedicated in ceremonies on Thursday dedicated in ceremonies today and tomorrow.

The $350,000 structure made possible through a grant from the Carlson Foundation Inc., has an aesthetic appearance combined with functioning utility in line with the plans of the growing university.

Of modern colonial design the new building is constructed of pastel shades of yellow and brown Roman shaped brick with the central entrance facade made of white Vermont marble.

Extending for 123 feet along Park place and 69 feet along Park avenue, the building contains 22,000 feet of floor space.

A large periodicals and a comparable reference room with blond furniture are located on the first floor. The centrally located charging desk faces the lobby. Ease of observation from the charging desk into the reference and reading room is possible through glass panels enclosed in aluminum frames.

The outstanding W. B. Davis collection of Abraham Lincoln memorabilia given to the University will be housed in the Lincoln wing on the first floor. A separate entrance on Park avenue permits the use of this wing apart from the rest of the building.

The processing department catalog and circulation department as well as the main office are strategically situated for efficient service.

Maximum opportunity for free access to library books on the second floor has been assured through use of the open stack system. Group study areas as well as individual carrels are located adjacent to the stacks. The elimination of all interior walls on the second floor provides maximum flexibility in the stack arrangement.

The basement area houses stack areas of bound magazines and general storage for books as well as lavatory facilities for men and women.

A fireproof vault 22x30 feet provides a safe storage space for valuable books and for general university records.

Movement of books between the three floors has been facilitated by the installation of a hand-operated elevator.

Radiant heat used throughout the building allows maximum use of all walls and assures better protection of books from excessive heat.

Architect C. Wellington Walker met with a committee of trustees, administrators, librarians, faculty alumni and students to determine the general and specific needs of the university.

General contractor for the library construction was the Frouge Construction Company. Heating and plumbing work was performed by Mitchell and Bailey, Inc., with the Eastern Electric Construction Company performing the electrical work.

Dedication Program Includes Librarians

Dedication ceremonies for the $350,000 Carlson Library take place today and tomorrow. This marks the first time the University has dedicated a building erected from funds contributed by a private source.

In conjunction with the dedication, the annual meeting of New England college librarians will be held on campus, with other librarians coming from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The exercises commence at 2 p. m. with registration in the Engineering-Technology Building until 3:30 p. m. The first general session will begin in the Carlson Auditorium with an explanation of the program by Lewis M. Ice, librarian and a welcome speech by President Halsey.

At 4 p. m., a tour of the Carlson Library will get underway and at its conclusion, at about 6 p. m., a social hour in the Sun Parlor, Stratfield Hotel will begin.

A banquet will then follow in the Ball Room, where Vice-President Henry W. Littlefield will preside. After the invocation by the Rev. Joseph A. Racioppi, Rector, Trinity Episcopal Church, dinner will be served.

Following the dinner, Alfred V. Bodine, chairman, Board of Trustees of the University, will introduce the distinguished visitors and guests; the A Cappella Choir, directed by W. Earl Sauerwein, will then sing a few selections.

President Halsey and Jasper McLevy, Mayor of Bridgeport, will extend greetings to the group and introduction of William and Philip Carlson will be presented by Isaac E. Schine, treasurer, Board of Trustees.

Mr. William C. Dix, librarian, Princeton University and John H. Ottemiller, associate librarian, Yale University will be introduced after which Mr. Dix will deliver an address on "The Fundamental Purpose of the College Library."

Friday's festivities will begin at 12:15 p. m. with a luncheon for participants and guests at the Stratfield Hotel with Roland H. Moody, librarian, Northeastern University, presiding.

At 2:30 p. m., a convocation for all students will commence at the Klein. The program will begin with a prelude by Miss M. Louise Miller, organist; to be followed by an academic procession led by Marshal Dean Earle M. Bigsbee; the Star Spangled Banner; Invocation by Rabbi Albert L. Martin; Greetings by Ronald A. Malony, vice-chairman; Raymond Har- graves, president of the Board of Associates; Dr. Helen M. Scurr, chairman, English Department; Chris M. Parris, president, Alumni Association; David Barr, president, Student Council; Julian A. Sohon, librarian, Bridgeport Public Library; and David A. Jonah, librarian, Brown University.

The student body will then be introduced to William and Philip

Carlson with a selection by the A Cappella Choir to follow. The story of the building of the Carlson Library will then be told by Dr. Littlefield and the introduction of Dr. Arthur S. Adams, president, American Council on Education after which he will speak on "The Sure Steady Light."

The Convocation will close with the singing of "America the Beautiful" and Benediction by the Rev. Howard Orr.

Dedication exercises will begin promptly at 4 p. m. in front of the Library with Mr. Bodine presiding. An introduction of the architect, C. Wellington Walker and the contractors will be made by Dr. Littlefield. Sr. Hipolito Hidalgo de Caviedes, muralist, will also be presented.

Following, William and Philip Carlson will officially present the Library building to the University which will be accepted by Mr. Bodine. President Halsey will then give a dedication statement and Mayor McLevy will give greetings from the City of Bridgeport. Presentation of the keys will be made by Fred R. Carstensen, chairman, Board of Trustees Buildings and Grounds Committee to Lewis M. Ice, librarian.

Dedicatory remarks by Dr. Finis E. Engleman, commissioner, State Department of Education; Prayer of Dedication by the Rev. John F. McGough and Inspection Tour of Carlson Library will conclude the two-day festivities.

Dedication Profiles

Arthur S. Adams

Dr. Arthur S. Adams, principal speaker at the convocation exercises on Friday, is president of the American Council on Education.

He distinguished himself during World War II for his administration and planning of the Navy V-12 program, which prepared more than 150,000 officer candidates at colleges and universities throughout the nation. He also was responsible for setting up the post war NROTC program.

Upon graduating from the Naval Academy, Annapolis, in 1918, Dr. Adams remained in active service for the next three years. At the end of this period, he entered public and private secondary school teaching until 1927, when he joined the faculty of the Colorado School of Mines.

After becoming Professor of Mechanics and assistant to the president of the Colorado institution, Dr. Adams was appointed assistant dean of engineering at Cornell University in 1940.

New Library Has Adventurer

If it's adventure stories you're seeking, the best place to look is the Carlson Library: not only does the library have a complete selection of adventure stories, but one of the staff members was once an adventurer.

Herbert R. Waugh, supervisor of the second floor reading room and the stacks, has been a world traveler, adventurer, teacher and military hero.

Born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada, he went to England with his older brother to be educated in the Winchester Preparatory school where he received his primary and secondary education.

Upon graduation from Winchester he apprenticed in the building trade for a few years and then entered the British Army college. He toured with the British Army in the Mediterranean and Arabian areas until 1907.

He then returned to Canada working as a civil engineer and "Glad to be rid of the tropics and back to a decent climate."

With the outbreak of World War I he joined the Canadian Army, taking part in numerous conflicts including the Battle of Courcellet, in which he was one of 21 soldiers left standing.

His performance in this battle won him a promotion from corporal to a Kings Lieutenant for meritorious service.

The promotion, he says, actually was the result of a five-dollar bet. Corp. Waugh had wagered one of his buddies that he could clean out a German pill-box with a hand grenade. He went to work, cleaned out the pill-box and collected his money. Because of this bravery he received the promotion. He was wounded once and decorated twice during the War.

The academic profession brought him to the Bullard-Havens Technical school in Bridgeport. Here he taught civil engineering, blueprint reading and building trade mathematics. He served as librarian at the Bullard-Havens school until his retirement in 1954.

Finding the monotony of retirement boring, he joined the staff of the Carlson Library in October of 1955.

Waugh enjoys his work at the University immensely and has become one of the most popular library staff members with both faculty and students.

Dedication Profiles

David A. Jonah

David A. Jonah, born in Sackville, New Brunswick, received his Sr.B. from Mount Allison University in 1929, and his Sc.M. from Brown University in 1931. He attended the Columbia University School of Library Service the summer of 1940.

Mr. Jonah was first an Assistant and then an Instructor in the Mathematics Department of Brown University, from 1929 to 1934. In 1935 he joined the staff of the Brown University Library assistant, Chief of Circulation and was successively Circulation and then in charge of the Physical Sciences Library.

In 1946 he was made Acting Librarian, in 1948 Associate Librarian and in 1949 Librarian. In 1952 he was also named the John Hay Professor of Bibliography.

Mr. Jonah is married and makes his home in East Greenwich, R.I.

John H. Ottemiller

Educated at Middlebury College, the Breadloaf School of English and Columbia University, where he took his professional library degree. Before assuming his present position as Associate Librarian of Yale University, he was a member of the staffs of Columbia University Libraries, the New York Public Library, Brown University Library; he served in the Office of Strategic Services during the war, and subsequently in the Library of the U. S. Department of State.

Author of Index to Plays in Collections, 1943. Rev. ed. 1951.

William S. Dix

Dr. William Shepherd Dix was called to Princeton University as librarian at the Harvey S. Firestone Memorial Library in February, 1953, from Rice Institute where he was an associate professor of English and librarian. His special field of scholarly interests is the Nineteenth Century American novel.

Dr. Dix is the author of the Amateur Spirit in Scholarship, a report on an adult education project sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation and published by the Western Reserve University Press in 1942. He is an editor of Good Reading, a guide to reading published by the New American Library, and has written for professional library publications such as Library Journal, Library Trends and the American Library Bulletin. His doctorate was based on the history of the theater in Cleveland during the period 1855-1875.

Spring Cleaning Bares Scribe Relics

In a report to the Scribe advisory board, recently, which follows up last week's profit and low statement, the Scribe editors listed the following inventory: four typewriters that must be overhauled (about $40 each), purchase of office equipment, an office clock and several typewriter tables. If there is money left over, the Scribe will use the balance to buy new or rebuilt typewriters.

Scribe property also includes: four typewriters (vintage 1945), three army surplus wooden filing cabinets, two campus directories, a glue pot (39c retail), several ditto stencils, 75 Addressograph plates, one dictionary ($6.00 retail), one paper spindle, six framed Associated Collegiate Press awards, one stapler, one pencil sharpener, back issues of the Scribe for several years, about 200 pounds of old engraving plates, one box of thumb tacks, one mail basket, stationery, rate cards, and contracts, old photos (from 1947 on), three old coats, one tie, two sweaters, a pair of rubbers, one rain hat.

Items found in the Scribe office, but not belonging to the Scribe outright (being on loan from various organizations and individuals): four desks, one table, one wastepaper basket, set of earphones, telephone, three ash trays, an Addressograph machine, adding machine, seven chairs, one blackboard, two cork notice boards, three soda bottles, class of journalism students (on loan from journalism department), one journalism instructor, two reams of paper, box of staples, two wall calendars, three music stands, two reams of paper, one post card printer, six ceiling fluorescents, one journalism text book, series of nude photo pin-ups (owner please claim), supply of inter-office memos (used) from many University officials, many old newspapers supplied gratis from other colleges, miscellaneous pieces of lumber, shelves and two Irish Sweepstake tickets (1952).

PRF to Hold Annual SC Elections in May

Student Council elections for the school year 1956-57 will be held Thursday and Friday, May 14 and 15 in Alumni Hall under the auspices of the Political Relations Forum.

Application blanks for council position may be obtained from the Office of Student Activities, Alumni Hall. Completed forms must be in the Student Activities office no later than 5 p.m. Tuesday, May 8.

Four freshmen, five sophomores, six juniors, plus two alternates for each class, will be installed in office at the annual Student Council Dinner, Sunday, May 20.

Reunion Plans Set By Arnold Alumni

Arnold College Alumni will hold their Third Reunion, since becoming affiliated with the University, on Saturday, May 5. The program will begin at 10 a.m. with registration in the Drama Center; at 11 a.m. a tour of the Campus; 12:30 p.m. luncheon and business meeting in the TV room, Alumni Hall; 3 p.m. Dance-Gymnastic Exhibition at the Drama Center. Festivities will conclude at 6 p.m. with a banquet at the Hitching Post Restaurant.

At the banquet, Marcelle Cacioppoli and Nick D'Aluisio, who have been selected as the outstanding Arnold students in this year's senior class, will be presented the E. H. Arnold Memorial Award. The two students, in turn, will present a photograph of Dr. Arnold to the University which will be hung in the E. H. Arnold Memorial Room of the new Gymnasium.

Moran No-Hitter Highlights Intramural Softball Frays

Bob Moran, Honeybuckets' pitcher, pitched a no-hitter, struck out 15 batters and hit a home run to lead his team to a 15-1 triumph over AGP to highlight the first week of intramural softball play.

The season got under way officially Tuesday, April 17 as POC squeaked out a one run victory over TS, 8-7. In another thriller, Trumbull Hall beat ADO.

On Wednesday, while Moran was putting on his one-man show, KBR and SPA battled for nine innings to a 7-7 tie before the game had to be called because of an intra-mural rule which states that no inning shall begin after 5 p.m.

Thursday saw SPA hand ADO its second defeat of the young season as they romped to an 11-7 victory. SOS added its first to the with column as it fought to a 9-6 victory over SLX.

The standings of the softball league after the first week's play are:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
SOS	1	0
TS	0	1

NATIONAL LEAGUE
TRUMBULL HALL	1	0 - 0
SPA	1	0 - 1
APD	0	0 - 0
ADO	0	2 - 0

DOLLAR WEEKEND

Talent from these organizations will be shown on a competitive basis and an award will go to the act receiving the most applause.

There will also be a presentation of varsity awards to graduating players of football, soccer and basketball. The honors presented by the New Student Spirit Committee which is headed by Chairman Jim Ide and Advisor Dr. Francis F. Dolan.

The awards program will be followed by Beta Gamma's presentation of a new American Flag to Alumni Hall. At 6:30 p. m. a jazz concert will be held which features the music of a University favorite, Ed Graff.

The charge for the entire day's activities on Sunday will be 50c. Tickets for the entire weekend can be purchased at Alumni Hall. For added convenience to students who wish to participate or attend, the snack bar in Alumni will be opened at 4 p. m. on Sunday.

Alpha to Zeta

by Don Lurie

The ALPHA DELTA OMEGA softball team has just released its casualty list headed by the great outfielder Tony Argust, who is suffering from severe scalp lacerations. Fireball hurler Dick Ugozik is complaining of abdominal pains. The small hole in sensational first baseman Jim Murphy's hand required 68 stitches. Versatile shortstop Tom Nugent reports difficulties with his respiratory system. However, despite injuries and insurmountable odds, the brothers are in there to do or die. Is this a success story or is this a success story?

Bridgeport Day elections were just preliminaries of things to come. Candidates for Student Council will soon be vying to win, place and show in student government. Fraternity elections also will soon be hitting the spotlight when the social men ring out the old and rank in the new. PI OMEGA CHI is about to elect a new administration. Good luck to all hopefuls. Point of personal privilege — Bernie Frank will be a proud father the middle of next November. I mention this now because the rumor is that POC is prepping for new candidates.

SIGMA OMICRON SIGMA's constitution pending since December, 1953 was finally approved last Saturday night. The evening couldn't have been better for the brothers celebrated their weekend, approval of the constitution and the honoring of Gordie Cochran, who was presented with the first "Brotherhood" award.

The brothers of SIGMA LAMBD A CHI will be co-sponsors with the wealthy members of SOS at tonight's gala beer extravaganza. One hundred per cent attendance is expected, which, will naturally slow down lovers of Park Hall, who seem to do all their howling from 9:30-10 p. m. Mr. Emtion, Bert Siegel is happily settling down to the sweet charms of Myrna Freid. Bert and Myrna moved one more step up the ladder by becoming pinmates last Friday night. Okay, own up — Who's responsible for the forgery in the SOS advertising book?

Once again, CHI SIGMA DELTA has five hopefuls for a campus queen. The contest is naturally for Wistaria beauty and the five lovelies are Carolyn Brennan, Enid Clausen, Nancy Hall, Anita McEntegart and Ruth Nodland. Myrna Mae is unanimous candidate for Hysteria queen.

CHI ZETA RHO is priming two of their hopefuls for the coveted Wistaria honor. President Marilyn Ridings and recently engaged Lynne Schepps are currently publicizing for their crown degrees.

Alderwoman Lois Prentice proved to be an excellent parliamentarian at last Friday's Bridgeport Day. Where have you been hiding Lois? This campus needs people like you.

Mystery candidates for executive positions in highly popular THETA SIGMA are currently on a hand shaking spree. New officers will have been elected by publication time; however, it is impossible at the present time to venture any predictions. I don't even know who is running.

The new sisters of BETA GAMMA were presented with their beer mugs last week, which now makes them full-fledged members of Zambory's. Pat Janowski, Yolanda Delmore and Barbara Jean Thompson are also hopefuls for guess what? This should be quite an election.

Soiree '56 Heads Alumni Day Program

The Alumni Association will present "Soiree, '56" as the highlight of its Wistaria Weekend "Alumni Day" May 5, at 8 p. m. in the Stratfield Hotel.

The program will feature entertainment, dancing and a special panel report of recent University developments. Annual awards and the presentation of incoming officers will take place. All graduating students should obtain reservations at the Alumni Office in Cortright Hall, before 12 noon this Friday.

Recently a plan was suggested by Prof. William F. Everett for a first reunion of the 1956 graduating class in the fall at a recent meeting of the Alumni Executive Board.

Although Prof. Everett stated that the personal identity of many of the graduates will be with their fraternities, sororities, and other campus organizations for some time after leaving college, he said a class reunion was possible for fall.

ECONOMISTS EXPLAIN FIELD A "Career and Curriculum Hour" was sponsored by the economics department, Tuesday in Easton Hall.

Students gained information about the department's curricula and vocational opportunities. Departmental instructors will be present.

Fashion Students Model Swim Suits

Bette Weber and Pat Janowski, fashion merchandising majors, will be featured at a fashion showing of Read's bathing suits for summer which will be held May 8 at the Read store. The pair will stress the fabric's selling points and will also model some of the swim suits.

The fashion merchandising convocation scheduled for the same day has been canceled.

It was recently learned that Doris Bowden, a University graduate of the four year fashion merchandising course, is now acting as an assistant to Read's employment manager. She spoke to all fashion merchandising majors at the recent advise meeting. She told the students how to obtain and hold a job in a department store.

The buying class has also been active. Recently they went on a field trip to Venus Lingerie in Bridgeport to see how moderate priced lingerie is designed, cut, and sewn. Some of the Venus line was featured at a recent fashion show sponsored by the fashion merchandisers.

Debaters to Discuss GAW Topic Saturday

The University's Debating Society will be host to four other colleges this Saturday when the topic "Guaranteed Annual Wage" will be resolved. The team scoring the most points in three rounds of debate will receive a plaque.

Schools invited to participate are: Alberta Magnus, New Britain State Teachers College, New Haven State Teachers College, the University of Connecticut.

The society will be working under a new slate of officers: President, Ed Parnos; debate chairman, Bill Fogarty; secretary, Linda Hersh and treasurer, Rachel Smith.

HALSEY ADDRESSES ALUMNI

President James H. Halsey will speak before the New York Alumni Club concerning recent University developments today at 4 p. m. in the Hotel Martinique, New York City.
